

PRODUCT BULLETIN

In the continuing effort to offer the most updated and innovative products to the market, and remain the industry leader in corrosion preventative measures, Vanguard National Trailer is proud to announce we are providing an upgrade to the Gladhands with anodized aluminum standard. The following photos reflect the corrosion of standard aluminum versus anodized aluminum Gladhands following a 250 hour salt spray test. Obviously the Red line (Emergency) is the anodized Glandhand and the Blue line (Service) is the standard aluminum Glandhand. The new standard Glandhand also comes complete with filter screens and poly seal connections. If there are any questions, please contact the Vanguard Sales Department for more details.
